

Paper ID: 09

Title: Explainable Artificial Intelligence Models using Students' Academic Record Data, Tree Family Classifiers, and K-means Clustering to Predict Students' Performance.

AMMAR K. ALMASRI

AMMAR K. ALMASRI received the B.Sc. degree in Computer Science and the M.Sc. degree in Computer Information System from Mut'ah and The Arab Academy for Banking and Financial Sciences University, Amman-Jordan, in 2003 and 2007, respectively. He is already pursued the Ph.D. degree in Management Information System Department, Cyprus International University, Cyprus. He has been working as a senior lecturer in The Al-Balqa Applied University (BAU), Amman branch since September 2009. His research interests include Data mining, Machine Learning, Deep Learning, E-Learning and Mobile learning.